Have you experienced any of these situations?

Upon trying to rent a property, have you been refused or been told that it was already let when it was not?

Upon attending a job interview, have you felt that the interview was too short and that not much interest was shown in your education or work experience?

Upon calling about a job offer, have you been refused an interview because of your accent?

Have you ever wanted to enter a venue, bar or club and they did not let to enter, while other people could?

Have you been subject to racist comments or insults?

When walking down the street, have you ever been stopped by the police to identify and asked to identify yourself because of your physical appearance and not because you have done something wrong?

Have you been denied access to public or private services for no apparent reason?
